

Blog Post Questions

These questions are to be answered by each student in a series of weekly blog posts. In addition, they must engage in at least one exchange to a posting from one of their colleagues.

1. Why did you choose human services as a major? (please explain without saying that you want to help people). What kind of work do you see yourself performing in the human services field after you graduate from CityTech?
2. Human services ethical standards speak about our profession's concern for individuals, families, communities, and society. Why should human services professionals care about communities and society?
3. Based upon your research and your walkabouts, what have you learned about your community that you didn't know before? What do you see now that you didn't see before?
4. What have you learned about yourself as a result of this assignment? How do you think differently about yourself now after completing this assignment?
