Voorhees Hall, 6th Floor

The Department of Computer Engineering Technology (CET Dept) at City Tech offers Bachelor of Technology (BTech) degree in Computer Engineering Technology and Associate in Applied Science (AAS) degree in Electromechanical Engineering Technology.

Accreditation

Both the AAS degree in Electromechanical Engineering Technology and BTech degree in Computer Engineering Technology are accredited by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology (ABET).

What is Computer Engineering Technology?

Computer Engineering Technology is a multi-disciplinary engineering technology field that integrates Computer System and Electrical Engineering technologies.

Courses

The CET Dept at City Tech takes a multi-disciplinary approach to technology and offer a variety of courses with theoretical and practical foundations in current and emerging technologies in three fields, namely, computer, electrical and mechanical engineering technologies. This approach helps students be well prepared for the competition in job market and also the rapid pace of technology advancements they will encounter in their careers.

Number of Student Enrolled

992 (231 Associate, 761 Baccalaureate) in Fall 2019

Faculty

15 full time faculty, 35 adjunct faculty members (as of Fall 2019).

Job options

Our graduates start their careers with a broad range of positions in a variety of industries related to computing, electronics, information, electrical and electromechanical engineering areas. A list of recent employers includes Amazon/AWS, Apple, Bank of America, Con Edison, GE, Geek Squad, Goldman Sachs, Lutron Electronics, JCDecaux, JetBlue, KPMG, Lutron, Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center, Microcenter, MTA, NYC Department of Education, Spetrum, Verizon.

Further Study Options

The degree provides students with a compelling stepping stone to further study for pursuing an advanced degree. Our graduates have recently been enrolled in the Master of Science programs in NYU, NJIT, NYIT, SUNY-Stony Brook, City College of New York, Queens College, and Manhattan College. The CET Dept has an articulation agreement for the Master of Science degree in Computer Engineering at Manhattan College.
