Science Research Organization

Dear Youth Agency of America,

Thank you for presenting Science Research Organization an opportunity to assist your charity. Youth agency of America makes contributions for today's children. You provide children hope for a prosperous future. The organization will succeed in perpetuating the growth of awareness and education of children in America. My company would be honored in assisting you charity, by donating professional services. Unfortunately, you have reached for support from my company in a terrible time. I cannot donate professional service to your charity.

The Science Research Organization contains a staff of archeologist, astronomers, and doctors. Each have obtained doctoral degrees and received an immense amount of awards of achievements in New York. As a result, all of our staff are tremendously busy and cannot donate our services. Each employee, in our organization, is under an immensely amount of heavy workflow. Each department in SRO is currently occupied with research projects and cannot find time to attend any charity, at this moment.

We regret to deny your offer and truly are sincere about our predicament. I hope your agency achieve success in your search for support. I wish the very best in your journey. Although we cannot donate our time, Science Research Organization can help assist you by referencing your company to potential clients. However, Our Company cannot help any organization at the moment. Hopefully, the youth agency reaches great heights in the near future. I wish you the best of luck.

Sincerely,

Anddy Ferreira
