

J-Term Internship:

Murphy Burnham & Buttrick Architects is seeking an intern to join our vibrant design practice based in New York City for a 2 week period during the January 2022 term.

MBB's J-Term program seeks to expose local architecture students to the professional practice of architecture through a short but impactful internship. MBB is seeking an intern to join our diverse, design-focused architecture firm in New York City for a 2-week period paid internship during the January term. We are looking for individuals in their junior or senior year of an architectural program who are looking to gain professional practice experience.

We are a woman-owned, award-winning, interdisciplinary team—including architects, preservationists, sustainability specialists and interior designers. Our collaborative practice is driven by a shared vision of inclusive and sustainable design, technical innovation, and rigorous, research-driven decision-making. We have a diverse body of work including institutional, cultural, residential, and educational projects across a range of scales and are committed to creating architecture that elevates the human experience.

We nurture a collaborative studio environment where architects and designers can hone their skills, expand their knowledge, and make positive contributions to the built environment and the communities we serve.

Internship Responsibilities Include:

- Drawing details for construction documents using Revit/AutoCAD
- Developing presentation materials using 3d modeling software and the Adobe suite
- Product research as well as general office tasks
- Attending general office, project meetings and site visits

Internship Professional Development Support Include:

- Informational learning sessions in Design Sustainability, Preservation, and Interior Design
- Informational learning sessions for NCARB and ARE

Applicants must be currently authorized to work in the United States on a full-time basis. Please indicate on your cover letter details relating to your work authorization status.

Please email a letter of interest, your resume, and a pdf of work samples that highlight your design abilities including academic work (maximum of ten pages) to Maricela Salas at careers@mhbarch.com. Please include J-Term in the subject line. MBB will be accepting applications until 12/23/2021.
