Internships and Summer Research Assistant Job Postings (056-58)

Two Positions available for Architecture and Urban Design Undergraduate or Graduate Students

One Position available for a Research Assistant

Studio profile

+LAB Architect PLLC, is a recognized leader in Disaster Mitigation, Regeneration, Resilient Planning and Design Strategies. With offices in New York and Los Angeles, the studio is engaged in advising cities, states and private entities across the globe. Much of our advisory work is with risk analysis and long term mitigation planning that develops new policies, supports circular economies, and attracts capital for project implementation. These skills and services balance our project design and implementation that often involve resilient and sustainable minded clients.

Our work with indigenous island communities to develop community based Resilience Hubs in Dominica and the Hawaiian Islands are excellent examples of how we engage cultures, historic building techniques, and land use to inform our work. Additionally, our work with apex cities such as Houston and New York, are informed by our experience gathered in post-disaster Japan, Nepal, and the Caribbean enabling best practices to be adapted to contemporary context.
