

In life we find creativity in so many different ways. There's not just one way to be creative. We can be creative by thinking out of the box and going for whatever we feel is right for us. We can find creativity in life and in the world. Everything around us is art. Carrie Mae weems found art in simplicity. Carrie Mae Weems is so talented. She is very creative. I chose her because she decided to make art out of what she has. Instead of trying to be like others she is just being herself. She has great ideas that the world needed to see. She took many different pictures of her in her kitchen and she has an overhead light that shines bright over her. It's a perfect place to take pictures because the lighting hits just right. It teaches the viewers that lighting is everything. We need good lighting to really bring the whole picture together. When we forget the lighting, there is no rhythm to the photo. It would be just plain and dull. Lighting is very important when taking photos.

Photos hold so many memories, memories are important because they hold our past together. Our memories help us to be smart and make good decisions. It helps us move on further into the future. Art helps people express themselves in ways words can't. Pictures, paintings, and much more all speak for itself. There is so much good that we can do if we all come together and do art. Art is such a good thing because we need it. People use art to destress and to make good use of life. We literally use art everyday. There are many great designers out there who use their art to inspire us everyday, but why Carrie Mae Weems stood out to me was because she's not afraid to be herself. When you are doing art, it's best to remember that even though you may be unsure of yourself and what others think of it, all that matters is what you think of it at the end of the day. So making sure to remember that is key.

Art is made for fun and for our lives to be more lively and more interesting. Art changed my life, art makes my life more organized and more interesting. We all are art ourselves. We all our art. Carrie mae weems showed this by taking pictures of herself in her kitchen in the same kitchen, but just different things happening in the kitchen. We are the true art. We just need to embrace it more; just like Carrie mae weems does. She teaches people that if we are looking for art, we must look no further because we are our own art waiting to be revealed to the world. Photography helps us keep art forever.

In her photos she has something new happening. She has her alone, her eating dinner with her family, her and her friends laughing and joking together. And so much more. There's so many different ways you can take different pictures in that exact room that she took them. There are countless possibilities. We can look at her pictures and tell that she has either a favoritism for black and white or she uses a camera from the Olden days. She has all her pictures in black and white but that's what makes them so special. Her pictures are so original that they can't be replaced, even when recreated. Her style is so simple yet beautiful. When I think of art I now think of black and white photos in my kitchen but with different poses because now I learned something new. We can learn from other people and their artwork. Everyone has their own style.

Art can be expressed in many forms; there's paintings, pictures, drawings, decorating and lots more. Instead of just sticking with one your whole life, it would be so cool to try more. Carrie Mae weems is my favorite designer because she has the mind of an artist and by that I mean. An artist is able to meet art out of anything and any situation. She uses whatever she has to make art, and she's not afraid to be different that's why she's so inspiring to me. She has talent that Definetely deserved to be so popular. More people should discover her because she will enlighten a lot of people and they will probably want to follow into her footsteps. The more unique you are the more you get recognition. Since being unique isn't easy, it's definetely praised. Good lighting and a nice background helps make the pictures more interesting. It makes you never want to look away.

In conclusion, we have to be able to make art with what we have sometimes; rather than with what everyone has or wants. You have to move to the beat of your own drum and try new things in art. The more creative you are the better.
