Dear Reader,

While researching for this project I have learned quite of few things. I have learned that it is very challenging for an individual to do this project who has to study for exams and do other assignments that were due for other classes. Although, it was very challenging it was a bit fun. I learned things I did not know about. I got fascinated every time I found something new that I did not know about. So, I guess I am admitting that it was fun. The whole process was very different from what I have done in other classes. I love exploring new things and doing this fulfilled that satisfaction. In the beginning it was honestly really challenging for me. I had no idea what to do. Completely lost and confused as to what to do. When we gave each other feedback really helped me get an understanding of the project. The thing that really helped me the most was the conference meeting. It helped me understand that my first topic was too vague and difficult for me to research on. With that I found a new topic that was later approved by the professor. The first topic I wanted to work did not really have any information online. Most of the sites were fan sites about that topic, Alternate future. Also, with that topic I really could not find the answer to the question "So what?". After searching for a while I found the topic, Terraforming. It was not that difficult to find information for this topic probably, because how Elong Musk and Nasa are still talking about it online. So that brings a lot of focus on this topic. I find terraforming really fascinating since it will hopefully let us live in other planets that are now toxic for us. As for the power point I had the most fun doing. In the beginning, it was just plain slides with information on it. The more I was using it the more I learned about how to use the power point. Then I proceeded to update the application since there was an option for it. That was a really smart move in my opinion. That update allowed me to do more with slides. Now they look more eye catching then they were before. Overall, this whole project was difficult for me especially but it was fun at the end. It was also very satisfying when I finally finished it.
