

There are people out there every day really fighting the fight for equal rights, equal pay, equal treatment. They're inspiring. -Amy Landecker

BY: Karla Macancela

Quick Background info

For many years women till today are trying to fight equality. It's not easy ,many women have lost opportunities as well as not being payed fairly for the same amount of work a men would do just because they're a women and they are not entitled to do that as their duty. Back in the industrial times women were mandated to be home and serve their husbands while men worked to bring money to the house. Although times have changed it docent seem like it has because of the amount of power men have over women. Many can relate especially when playing any type of sport it can either be basketball golf or even soccer in the occasion. People believe women should get payed less for what men do just because they're women. Its not fair and if you're playing a sport and would sometime In the future go further with the sport or anything academically or physical we should have a change in the amount we get payed we should have pay equity which is equality between genders. Women in the soccer team are facing through such discrimination and won't let it affect who they are and they won't go down to fight for what's right.

Are you playing a sport and you aren't being payed the amount you should because you're a women ?

-Soccer

-Basketball

-Golf

-Volleyball

Although many of the laws have changed their still that small percentage where men have the control over pay in contrary with women. Do you wish se can do more ? Well we can always start small and then later expand into something that can change allot of lives. Theres always a way to change around what we don't like. You don't like how women especially athletes are being treated then we speak up and do a change that will revolutionize for the better.

There are multiple ways on expressing what we feel about this being unfair

-Start a petition make everyone in you're class or fellow friends sign so you can do something about the issue.

- Create posters and hang it around you're classes to show that women deserve as much equality as men in general and as athletes .
- In the sport you're in and currently playing make men support women such as raising money in a soccer or basketball game and therefore splitting it amongst men and women that participated in the game.
- Create a letter to the branch that declares the issue with signed signatures and state what you want to change and it should be very convincing either bring the whole team such as soccer team and say why you think women should be equal to men in pay.