

Dear Mr. Smith,

I am writing to express my interest in joining your company.

I am a dedicated and motivated individual who strives to do my best and exceed expectations in all endeavors. I have a genuine interest and proficiency in the field of technology; I will be graduating with Bachelor's degree of technology in telecommunications engineering later this spring. As a telecommunications engineer, I consider myself to be on the cutting edge of technological advancements. With this in mind, I hope to use my knowledge to help advance society and to help resolve issues plaguing the underprivileged. Recognizing my civic duty to society compels me to work with integrity and mindfulness, allowing me to take an open-minded approach in the face of challenges.

I take pride in all the skills I have acquired through school. Among them, C-language programming, comprehension of software created for telecommunication systems, familiarity with electrical and electronic systems, as well as the ability to design and create instruments used for telecommunication. In addition to broadening my technological knowledge, working toward my degree has instilled in me skills and strengths which have enabled me to grow and mature as a person. These include efficient time management, scrupulous attention to detail, a proclivity for problem solving, and superior leadership skills. Furthermore, my education has especially prepared me to coordinate, collaborate, and communicate effectively with fellow employees.

I also have vast working experience in the field, which I'm confident I can utilize to further strengthen your company.
