

Sticky Fingers

Sticky Fingers

Those people that purposely or involuntarily go around and touch others stuff without asking.

To see it happen might not bother most.

Even so, nobody wants someone to go through their personal belongings without permission.

The term “sticky fingers” is not literal. Simply put, it means the action of touching others belongings without permission. So in other words an invasion of privacy. However, this bothers me because the thought of someone going through my stuff without even asking me is disgusting.
