

SLOW

WALKERS

Merriam-Webster.com definition- a pet peeve as a frequent subject of complaint

DEFINITION

to delay or prevent the progress of (something) by acting in a deliberately slow manner

Honestly I don't mind slow walkers as much as I hate tourists. It's the slow, staggered walking without a destination that bothers me when I'm trying to pass. And their tendency to stop right in the middle of the street to consult their maps/confer about where they're going. The worst is when they block the path with their slow walking. I think I'll pass them no, but it will be close and I'll look like a jerk so I don't. Then I'm late for where I'm going. If you're going to walk slow, make room
