

I believe the nature of nursing is rooted in commitment to public service and the undeniable desire to help those in need. Nursing is more than treating an illness; rather it is focused on delivering quality patient care that is individualized to the needs of each patient. My philosophy of nursing incorporates the knowledge of medicine while combining it with relational, compassionate caring that respects the dignity of each patient. I believe nursing care should be holistic while honoring patient values. A crucial aspect of nursing is inter-professional relationships, and collaborative efforts among health care professionals. My philosophy of nursing extends to my community in which health promotion is something I will continually strive for. I will respect the beliefs and cultural practices of my patients. The care that I provide will be patient centered. My goal is to promote a healthy and safe environment where patients can heal quickly and go back to their loves ones. My philosophy further incorporates positivity, optimism, discipline, courage and determination to aspire to become the best at what I do in all aspects of my life. I believe circumstances plays a role in the outcome of our lives but our destiny is determine by our ability to have a positive mind and to seek out good in every bad situation that I may encounter in life. I am committed to excellence in providing the best teaching and nurturing to my patients and I'm forever willing to expand my knowledge and broaden my scope of practice to become more culturally adaptive to the needs of my patients and anyone in my care.
