Jessica Balatucan's eProfile

As an art lover, I view cooking as an art form of itself. It is something I try to dedicate my life with and set a career path towards it. A goal of mine has also been becoming a pastry chef and I hope to become one after attaining my degree. I have past experience working in food service but I want to take on more responsibility in the industry. I am in school currently working on my Associates and after, work on my Bachelors' degree. My commitment, adaptability, and creativity will help me strive to attain a degree in the culinary arts.
