

My tag is my title!

Currently, I am one of the Division Heads at the Liberty City Anime Convention, a non-profit event that supports anime, manga, and video games, as well as traditional and modern Japanese culture. Since 2015, conventions have been a huge success with unprecedented turnouts. Now, in 2017, after years of growing events, we are able to book the Times Square Marriott Marquis. My responsibilities include all things logistical, meaning I oversee equipment purchasing and storage, guest booking, staffing, marketing, obtaining sponsors, as well as run our social media accounts.

In addition to the annual event management I am a Program Support Clerk for a non-profit adoption and foster care agency in Brooklyn, Queens, and Long Island. This is a stressful and meticulous job that results in the safety and happiness of a child.

I love to please people, and I have a nose for what people like and dislike. I work hard and I want my guest to benefit from my labor.

My goal, once I graduate with my BTech Degree in Hospitality Management, is to go global and plan international events in the Hotel and Resorts industry.
