Throughout my life education has been expressed to me as an very important thing. that I need to obtain to be successful. So I always put this as my top priority but that doesn't mean I always succeed, I failed many times across my entire academic career, but there has also been highs like when I got home in 12th grade or when I passed a very important math test. One of my defining moments in ~~education~~ ^{education} came in 5th grade when graduating school I was about to go to next level 6th grade and I look at my school selections and I had none I was distraught and was motivated to do better ~~to~~ in school and to never not have to get brought back again.
