

1. 1|19 YouTube does not help its content creators, the people who made the site what it is today. #WTFU 101 Characters
2. 2|19 Content ID is an automated system that searches for copyrighted material and issues copyright strikes against channels. #WTFU 130 Characters
3. 3|19 The system is there to defend YouTube against lawsuits, but at the expense of content creators. #WTFU 107 Characters
4. 4|19 Amul Kahlia: "The problems with Content ID have always been in the news over the years..."
<https://www.eff.org/deeplinks/2015/05/congrats-10-year-anniversary-youtube-now-please-fix-content-id> #WTFU 124 Characters
5. 5|19 Kahlia (Cont): "But lately have become more common, even comically so." #WTFU 82 Characters
6. 6|19 Content ID has caused issues for content creators on YouTube since its implementation, mostly in regards to fair use violations. #WTFU 140 Characters
7. 7|19 Many videos are being taken down, losing their monetization, which many of these creators rely on, because of copyright strikes. #WTFU 139 Characters
8. 8|19 Stanford University: "Most fair use analysis falls into two categories: (1) commentary and criticism, or (2) parody."
<http://fairuse.stanford.edu/overview/fair-use/what-is-fair-use/> #WTFU 134 Characters
9. 9|19 YouTube allows for these types of videos to be taken down and those who make the claims will suffer no penalty for false claims. #WTFU 139 Characters
10. 10|19 Now this wouldn't be an issue if YouTube offered better support that what it currently does. #WTFU 98 Characters
11. 11|19 The only help they receive are automated emails and no other means of contacting YouTube. #WTFU 95 Characters
12. 12|19 They can however, issue a counter claim but, must do it in 200 characters and can only counter three claims at a time. #WTFU 133 Characters
13. 13|19 Stephen Totillo: "You won't see an apology here. You won't see a change in policy..."
<http://kotaku.com/heres-what-youtube-has-to-say-to-angry-youtubers-1485168478>
#WTFU 120 Characters
14. 14|19 Thankfully, the YouTube community is being very active and vocal about Content ID and are pushing to help channels. #WTFU 123 Characters

15. 15|19 Channels with a huge following have those who are willing to help. Smaller channels will have virtually no defense. #WTFU 135 Characters
16. 16|19 The YouTube community is doing as much as they can to fight against the website that has turned its back against them. #WTFU 132 Characters
17. 17|19 Sooner or later another website will come along, one that actively defends its user base and YouTube will simply be forgotten. #WTFU 132 Characters
18. 18|19 Check out my podcast, Digital Autopsy, for more detail on this issue. <https://soundcloud.com/enigmaconundrum/digital-autopsy-episode-1> #WTFU 105 Characters
19. 19|19 Or check out Nostalgia Critic's video on the issue as well. #WTFU <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zVqFAMOtwaI>