Dear Hiring Manager,

I have recently went across your website and it has come to my attention that your company is looking for a Junior Graphic Designer to join your group of Designers to promote the Quirky brand. I have learned that your company promotes new invention ideas of common people and assist them in the development process. I am a college student ready to start my career in the Graphic Design field and I believe my qualifications and skills would be a fit for what you are looking for in a Junior Designer. My two years going to New York City College Of Technology have taught me many new abilities, the new trends of designing, and new programs which made my knowledge much higher. I am very passionate about the work I have done these past years, from the creation of logos, magazine covers, packaging layouts as well as printing design and many more I have learn in class.

Thank you for taking the time to look over my application. I would like to meet with you in person at your best convenience. My resume is attached. If I can provide you with any further information on my qualifications, please telephone me at 917.244.0609 or email me at sandrararro@aol.com. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Sandra Jarro
