Low Medium High ?

The levels are color coded.

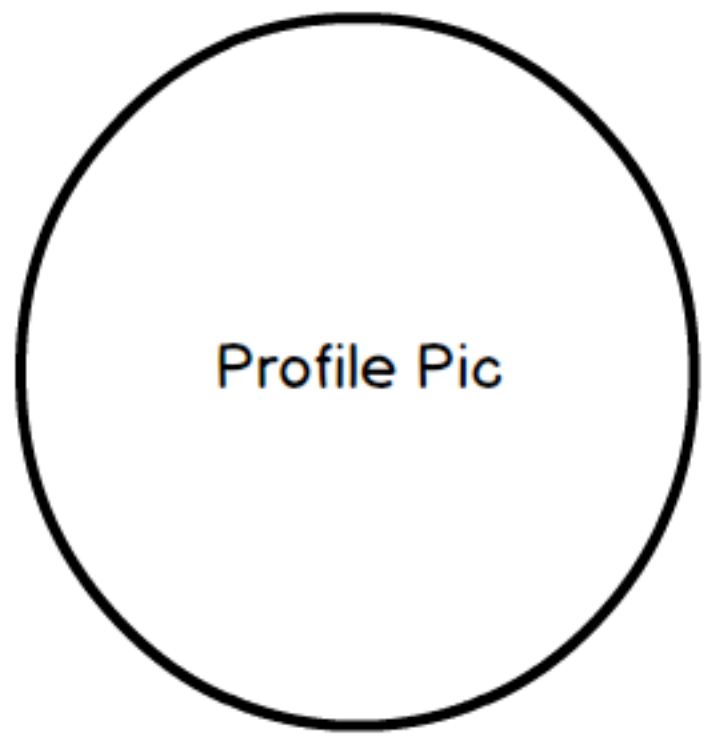

All interests would be listed just in text and the user can click the interest the would like to see more of. In this case its education.

I listed all the interest categories to show the worse case sceneraio.

Higher Education (High)

Once education clicked, that leads them to higher education which is high. it would not say "(high)" but it would use the color code level circles as indicated above. I just put "high" just to indicate what level that interest is.

The other interests are still available for the user to click through.

The levels are color coded.

Higher Education (High)

- Columbia University (Low)
- Syracuse University (High)
- University of Dayton (Low)

Then higher education is selected and the other interests would drop down. Giving the user more access to interests.
