

Outline for Essay

- Introduction:
- A Hook
 - Author's Summary (be sure to include title & author, the author's thesis and 2 or 3 main points)
 - Your Thesis

Body:

Paragraph 1

1. Introduce a relevant point from the passage to which you want to respond (this should be one of the main points identified above)
2. Include a quotation from the passage which conveys this idea
3. What is your response to this idea?
4. Include at least one example from your own knowledge, reading or experience:
5. Relate this idea back to your thesis

Paragraph 2

1. Introduce a relevant point from the passage to which you want to respond (this should be one of the main points identified above)
2. Include a quotation from the passage which conveys this idea
3. What is your response to this idea?
4. Include at least one example from your own knowledge, reading or experience:
5. Relate this idea back to your thesis

Paragraph 3

1. Introduce a relevant point from the passage to which you want to respond (this should be one of the main points identified above)
2. Include a quotation from the passage which conveys this idea
3. What is your response to this idea?
4. Include at least one example from your own knowledge, reading or experience:
5. Relate this idea back to your thesis

III: Conclusion:

- Restate your thesis statement:
- Summarize the main point of the article
- Explain how your behavior will change as a result of your new knowledge or how you (or others) can use this knowledge