

White satin

This suit is made with satin fabric. The blazer is deep v neck with corset detailing at the waist. The pants are in the style of cigarette pants and stop right before the ankles. A great ensemble for a corporate party.

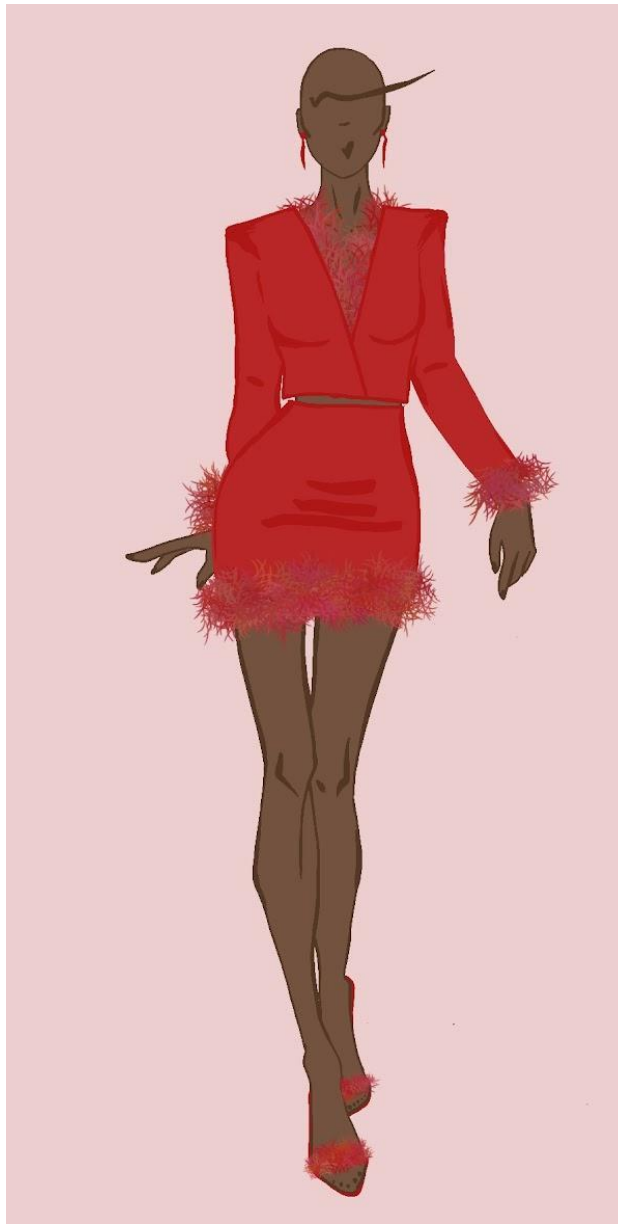

Red Ostrich feather

Polyester

Baby pink ostrich feather

This mini skirt suit is made of polyester fabric. To add volume to the silhouette of the suit, pink and red ostrich feathers are added to the bottom of the sleeves, the collar of the blazer and the bottom of the skirt. Shoulder pads added to the shoulders of the jackets. This gives the jacket a clean and crisp silhouette that compliments the shape of the wearer's body.

80% Cotton and 20% Polyester blend

This suit is made of turquoise cotton and polyester blend fabric. The suit features a cropped blazer that has 2 silver gems for buttons. The trousers are a little tight fitting and have splits at the bottom front of each leg to give it a chic cool feel and look.

Conclusion

With today's society it is very easy for a trend to come and quickly vanish becoming a fad not lasting for a while. As seen throughout this trend report the Grace & Lee Forecasting Company has done the research and has predicted six trends for women suits. The six trend forecast report consists of red suits, white suits, cut out blazers, cropped blazers, split hem trousers and mini skirt suits. Through thorough research we believe to have found trends that are here to stay. The designs we have put together displays suits of top and bottom that can be worn together or separately.

With creative and analytical roles, we predicted everything from silhouettes, colors, textures, and textiles. Some of the silhouettes we have picked for the spring 2023 trend forecast are a line and voluminous silhouettes, which we believe are suitable and flattering on every woman no matter their shape, size or height. We also picked luxury fabrics like satin and silk and ostrich feathers for the absolute luxe feeling.

Based on our research we found that the colors, red, white, lavender, soft pink, turquoise, emerald green are colors that are currently trendy and are most likely to stay popular throughout spring of 2023. With this in mind we have created edgy, feminine designs for the women with infinite style.

We have identified new trends and predicted trends that will shape the fashion industry and have forecasted top quality fashion trends. We have gathered concrete proof that includes the history of each trend, timeline, pendulum swing, trend report, evaluation of textiles, sketches, SKU's and fabric swatches. We attentively prepared this trend forecast with our target markets in mind. Grace & Lee thanks you for your time and thanks you for reading our report.
