

36 Hours in...Perugia, Italy

Perugia, Italy as in interesting read. From the reading in "36 Hours in...", Perugia comes off as a very old city with lots of history. The city is visually spectacular and breathtaking, it is not a place I would want to visit right now. Perugia seems like a perfect tourist location for historians and photographers. The city has many museums worth visiting. There is also a great amount designs and architecture that dat as far back as the 13th century. Perugia is definitely a place to visit if you're not into the night life and just looking for history.
