

Brooklyn Botanic Garden

The Brooklyn Botanic garden is located at 900 Washington ave, near Crown Heights in Brooklyn of course. BBG is significant to the culture of New York because New York is known to be a place full of people from all different parts of the world, and this garden is full of many different kinds of plants from all over the world. They are open everyday of the week except Monday. Many different ages of people come and explore this garden from young children to seniors.
