Exclusive Style Network: Your Guide to Spring/Summer 2025 Trends

Exclusive Style Network (ESN) , founded by a New York State University student who saw a gap in the awareness of the trend forecasting genre, brings you its Spring/Summer 2025 trend report.

This report dives into the upcoming season's trending styles, including:

- Color Palette: From soft pastels to bold statements.
- Unique styles: Influenced by social movements and self-expression.
- Sustainable practices: An important focus for ESN.

Hania Gad, the founder of ESN, meticulously researched runways, designers, and collaborations to predict the trends that will take over the season. This report not only monitors current trends but also offers a glimpse into what's expected for the next two years with the inclusion of fashion moodboards.

Whether you're a fashion connoisseur or just curious about fashion trends, this report offers exciting insights and welcomes your feedback to keep the fashion conversation going.

Conclusion

This report dives deeper into the world of sheer fashion. After extensive research and closely analyzing the market, the sheer trend continuing to rise can be predicted. Sheer garments, from delicate fabrics to bold reveals, break gender boundaries and offer some empowerment and self-expression to whoever decides to wear it. The theme "Sheer Vanity" embodies the brand's spirit, celebrating confidence through artistic design, and its allure. I can certainly see sheer pieces staying on runways and being trendy, inspiring future collections and designs in the upcoming seasons.
