

Arch History

The history of architecture influences us in many ways throughout time. One important part of it was the Egyptian Temples. In our history Egyptian Temples were one of the most important information to know about from what they inside to how it inspire architecture throughout life in many ways.

One great topic to talk about is the temple of Karnak. The temple of Karnak is famous for is comprises of vast mixes of decayed temples, chapels, pylons, and of building structures. It is located 2.5km north of Luxor and partly surrounded of modern village of El- Karnak (city). It is most famous mainly not because of is complex structures but for is drawings (paintings) and decorations inside the temple of Karnak. The temple has one of the largest of the precincts of them all is dedicated to Amun-Ra the chief deity of the Theban triad.

Another example for this topic is the temple of Luxor. This large temple building was made of stone so that they would last forever. The walls of the temple of Luxor were covered with scenes (pictures) that were carved onto the stone. The pictures showed the pharaoh fighting in battles and doing rituals with gods, which indeed makes it one of the unique temples of them all cause of its decorations and design. The temple of Luxor is located on the east of the Nile River known as Luxor. Many famous structures are still standing from it such as an example the baroque chapels. Hatshepsut built this structure, it is said that the deeper you in the temple the better and important facts you will find inside.

This two mayor topics have a point on which through history till now they are still remember cause have how they were created or what makes this two standout. The temple of Karnak such as the temple of Luxor is specially known in many ways. The temple of Karnak has been shown in many places besides museums, there recent showing was in a blockbuster movie called Transformers at the end in which Optimus Prime and Megatron battle and the scene takes place in the hypostyle hall at Karnak. In this time of now there is to belief that there is a map of Karnak in which it shows the major complexes and sacred crescent lake of Mut, Is this little details and features of the temple that makes this one of the rarest and special temples of them all. In the other hand the temple of Luxor is most popular cause of the many pylons it has that are some 70 yards long. One famous feature in which most temples rarely have is that six colossal statues of Rameses four seated and two standing originally flanked their main entrance to the temple complex.

Exploring these two unique temples can lead you through amazing facts about Egyptian temples. The temple of Luxor and the temple of Karnak are two great events to learn about and should I believe should be known all over the world.
