DEPORTATION DEFENSE

Make the Road - Deportation Defense Manual

This manual provides information about your rights when interacting with immigration enforcement, what you should do to prepare, and how to mobilize your community for support.

Legal Services NYC

Provides support in multiple areas in addition to immigration resources. All their services are free & open to anyone that lives in NYC. They have offices across all 5 of the NYC boroughs and can provide support in many different languages.

UnLocal

Provides support for folks in deportation proceedings. They also have a dedicated program for undocumented LGBTQ+ immigrants seeking legal support. Contact: tania@unlocal.org

Legal Aid Society

Provides urgent immigration support to low-income undocumented folks. They also have legal aid support in other areas such as housing. If you need immediate help, please call the Immigration Law Unit Helpline: 844-955-3425.

Immigration Equality

Provides direct legal aid support to LGBTQ+ asylum seekers. Immigration Equality's services are free regardless of your status. They partner up with an accredited attorney in their network to support their clients. Please scroll to the bottom of their website for both their emergency and regular contacts.

Red Cards - ILRC

The Immigrant Legal Resource Center (ILRC) created a series of cards in 14 languages to make sure people know their rights and can defend themselves in situations, such as when ICE agents go to a home. Go to the site to request cards or print your own.

Family Preparedness Plan - ILRC

The ILRC has put together a family preparedness plan resource document to help reduce the stress of the unexpected. The document can help any family regardless of immigration status, but includes additional advice for immigrant families

HEALTH RESOURCES

CUNY UISP Health Resources

CUNY UISP has put together a list of physical and mental health resources and clinics for undocumented students and families along with resources for educators working with immigrants
