

From: Sebastian Stanescu SStanescu@CityTech.Cuny.Edu

Subject: Re: Health Care Ethics course invitation

Date: April 30, 2015 at 2:57 PM

To: Armando Solis ASolis@CityTech.Cuny.Edu, Nicholas Stefanopoulos NStefanopoulos@CityTech.Cuny.Edu, macdougallteaching@gmail.com

SS

Hello Everyone,

I would also like to partake, pending schedule availability.

Prof. MacDougall,

Please reach out when you have solidified a timeline, and good luck on your proposal!

Regards,
Sebastian

>>> Nicholas Stefanopoulos 04/29/15 10:17 AM >>>

Good morning all,

Thank you Armando for the introduction and for reaching out!

Prof, MacDougall-- I am certainly open to being a guest speaker in your class! Please feel free to reach out to me at your earliest convenience to discuss further.

Best regards,
Nick

>>> Armando Solis 04/28/15 1:39 PM >>>

Dear Nick and Sebastian,

I hope your semester is going smoothly so far.

I'd like to introduce you to Prof. Rob MacDougall from the Social Sciences Department. He's in the process of retooling an existing course on Health Care Ethics into an interdisciplinary course for our students. This entails incorporating guest lecturers to come speak about particular aspects of the health care field, as they relate to relevant ethics questions. We are hoping that you'd be willing to make yourselves available to come in one time in future semesters (not now) and speak in class about the ways healthcare data are currently being used in research and in patient care, and also the view from the field about related emerging ethical challenges.

Rob-- Nick and Sebastian are two of our able adjunct professors in the department who are currently teaching our medical informatics courses. They should be a great resource for topics related to the ethical use of patient data.

All-- please feel free to email one another to coordinate this effort. Rob has a proposal deadline this week for lining up potential speakers. It would be wonderful if one or both of you, Nick and Sebastian, get involved in this great opportunity.

Thanks, all!

Best regards,
Armando

Armando D. Solis, Ph.D.
Biological Sciences Department

~~Strategic Services Department~~

New York City College of Technology (City Tech)
The City University of New York (CUNY)
Brooklyn, NY 11201
asolis@citytech.cuny.edu