CATALOGUE DESCRIPTION

An investigation into the dynamic and embodied live communication common to both theatre and law. Students will read plays written about foundational cases involving actual trial transcripts, and probe the ways in which these cases have influenced society. Additionally, students will write and perform short plays based on actual court cases. Persuasive argument and the courtroom itself are also investigated as enactments of theatre and performance (examining the courtroom in terms of costume, roles, design, power dynamics, etc.).

Requires working camera and mic, both switched on at instructor's request.

EARNING OUTCOMES OF INTERDISCIPLINARY COURSE:

Students will be able to:

- Purposefully connect and integrate across-discipline knowledge and skills to solve problems
- Synthesize and transfer knowledge across disciplinary boundaries
- Comprehend factors inherent in complex problems
- Apply integrative thinking to problem-solving in ethically and socially responsible ways
- Recognize varied perspectives
- Gain comfort with complexity and uncertainty
- Think critically, communicate effectively, and work collaboratively
- Become flexible thinkers

GENERAL EDUCATION LEARNING GOALS FOR CITY TECH STUDENTS:

- Knowledge: Develop knowledge from a range of disciplinary perspectives, and hone the ability to deepen and continue learning.
- Skills: Acquire and use the tools needed for communication, inquiry, creativity, analysis, and productive work.
- Integration: Work productively within and across disciplines.
- Values, Ethics, and Relationships: Understand and apply values, ethics, and diverse perspectives in personal, professional, civic, and cultural/global domains.

POLICIES

Plagiarism and NYCCT Academic Integrity Policy:

“Students and all others who work with information, ideas, texts, images, music, inventions, and other intellectual property owe their audience and sources accuracy and honesty in using, crediting, and citing sources. As a community of intellectual and professional workers, the College recognizes its responsibility for providing instruction in information literacy and academic integrity, offering models of good practice, and responding vigilantly and appropriately to infractions of academic integrity. Accordingly, academic dishonesty is prohibited in The City University of New York and at New York City College of Technology and is punishable by penalties, including failing grades, suspension, and expulsion.” (See pp. 73-76 in the student handbook). The following are some examples of plagiarism:

- Copying another person’s actual words without the use of quotation marks and footnotes attributing the words to their source.
- Presenting another person’s ideas or theories in your own words without acknowledging the source.
- Using information that is not common knowledge without acknowledging the source.
- Failing to acknowledge collaborators on homework and laboratory assignments.
- Internet Plagiarism includes submitting downloaded term papers or parts of term papers, paraphrasing or copying information from the internet without citing the source, and “cutting and pasting” from various sources without proper attribution.
- Assignments must be paraphrased into your own language and properly cited.

Accessibility Statement

City Tech is committed to supporting the educational goals of enrolled students with disabilities in the areas of enrollment, academic advisement, tutoring, assistive technologies, and testing accommodations. If you have or think you may have a disability, you may be eligible for reasonable accommodations or academic adjustments as provided under applicable federal, state and city laws. You may also request services for temporary conditions or medical issues under certain circumstances. If you have questions about your eligibility or would like to seek accommodation services or academic adjustments, you can leave a voicemail at 718 260 5143, send an email to Accessibility@citytech.cuny.edu or visit the Center's website at <http://www.citytech.cuny.edu/accessibility/reasonable-accommodations.aspx> for more information.

Attendance Policy

It is the conviction of your instructors and their departments that a student who is not in a class for any reason is not receiving the benefit of the education being provided. Missed class time includes not just absences but also latenesses, early departures, and time outside the classroom taken by students during class meeting periods. Missed time impacts any portion of the final grade overtly allocated to participation and/or any grades awarded for activities that relate to presence in class.

Online Synchronous Class Sessions:

Synchronous classes resemble traditional on-campus in-person classes in that students must all be (virtually) present at the same time. Though they are conducted virtually, synchronous classes meet in real-time. Students must, therefore, commit to scheduled class times and sign onto their virtual learning platforms on schedule. During these classes, students will engage with the instructor and each other with online lessons, presentations, breakout rooms, and/or discussions. Active participation is an essential part of the learning process and is required of all enrolled students. A student who, for any reason, engages in non-class-related activities during scheduled class times forfeits and loses the benefit of the education being provided.

Each student must have an active City Tech e-mail address

(userid@mail.citytech.cuny.edu). This will be a primary method of communication. Once we send a message to your e-mail account, we assume that you have the information. (If you use another e-mail address, you will need to forward your @mail.citytech.cuny.edu e-mail to your other address).

ASSIGNMENTS

All written work must be typed in 12-point font, double-spaced and with 1" margins. PROOFREAD for grammar, spelling, and coherence (using Spell-check and Eyeball checking)

1. Participation (Law and Theatre): Discussion Board Posts/Team Exercises: Written responses to weekly or biweekly content-specific queries/posts. 100-600 words per post, count varies with each assignment. Answering questions posed by the instructor, engaging in class discussions in a thoughtful manner, discussing the readings, volunteering for reading out loud, and supporting the learning and performance of your fellow classmates. Graded as 20% of total grade.

2. Character analysis (Law and Theatre): (450 words). Use the worksheet and answer the questions for the character assigned to you, as though you were an actor playing the role. Please do not give a synopsis of the play or the plot. Graded as 20% of total grade.

3. Writing Assignments (Law): worth 30% of total grade.

Final Writing Assignment (LAW)	Due Date
Review and Discuss Paper Requirements & Grading Rubric	Week 4
First Draft of Paper Submitted	Week 6
Return of Student's First Draft of Paper Provide Comment/Suggestions for Revision	Week 8
Final Version of Paper Submitted	Week 10

4. Reading and watching videos as assigned (Law and Theatre).

5. Group Project (Theatre) Graded as 30% of total grade.

This project has both a Written and a Performance component. Working collaboratively with your group (in groups assigned by your professor), write a 10-15 minute play that has a beginning, middle, and end. You'll also need to have conflict, opposing forces of equal value, and compelling characters. Every actor should know their character's objectives. Everyone must contribute to the group project. You will perform the project during and after writing.

A. Written component. 10-15 pages total for each group.

- Procedure:
1. Exchange contact information with your group.
 2. As a group, choose one of the famous cases on this website: <https://famous-trials.com>. NOTE: you must choose a case that has not already been made into a play, film, or novel. Let me know as soon as your group has chosen the case to work on, as two different groups cannot work on the same trial.
 3. Learn about the case through research from this site, and pay particular attention to the primary sources.
 4. As a group, choose 450 words (only) of primary source material from site.
Upload these two pages into the portal (marked "primary source material") before class on the date it is due.
 5. Working collaboratively, your group will first write the beginning of the play and outline the rest, uploading into the portal before class on the date it is due, and bringing it in to read out loud in front of the class. You will be incorporating the primary source material into your play (it must be cited each time it is used), so be thinking about where and how you will use it.

6. Taking feedback from the presentation, revise the beginning if needed and write the middle portion.
7. Taking feedback from the second presentation reading, revise and complete the play.
8. Full draft due week 14.
9. Final performance due week 15 No Exceptions!

B. Performance Component: students cast, rehearse, and perform the scripts they have written. Late work cannot be accepted.
