Blog 1: Fashion Forecasting

Fashion article “ 2021 fashion forecast: Sunny With A Chance Of Chic” by Bella Gerard talks about predictions about 2021 fashion trends and how they are going to be more vibrant to have good energy and a better mood with vibrant colors, leaving the past year 2020 behind. We are still going to have comfortability in clothing just like 2020 due to the pandemic. Bella states “we’re getting our groove back when it comes to looking good, but we aren’t sacrificing the comfort levels we grew to love in 2020, Stylish can be comfy too.” Some fashion predictions in the article are eyesore prints ( made by independent artists and designers from around the world that specify in prints) This is a bold trend people will want to wear so they can not only feel bold but look it. Also, wendy style long sleeve tops that are broad around the shoulders, polo neck sweaters, cow prints, and sheer clothing. These are all chic styles that are going to be popular in 2021. Bella even states Gen z would be wearing these trends and I agree because I already see them wearing every style on social media that she predicted in the article.
