Managing A Relationship

For the general idea of my project, I would like to propose is to create an anklet. An anklet that a person has the option of wearing. This anklet will be able to tell how a person is feeling or what mood they are in.

1. User Group: Everyone

I would like to propose is to create an anklet that one can wear if they choose to do so.

This anklet will be able to tell how a person is feeling or what mood they are in. I chose to do this because most of the people that I am surrounded by are very emotional and moody. Creating such an anklet, I will be able to tell how someone is feeling and will better help me to communicate with that person.

2. Design Problem: Dysfunctional Relationships

My family and I majority of the time do not get along because they tend to always switch into different moods and I cannot keep up.

3. Motivation: The ability to develop my relationship with my family. I am sure that I am not the only one who has dysfunctional relationship. Many of us can use this anklet to help them develop their relationship whether it be with their family, friends or themselves.

4. Solution: Create an anklet that a person can wear that tracks, analyzes, and auto-manages relationships. Using this anklet will not only help with a person relationship but also it will prevent conflict.

5. Outcome: More love and less tension and hate in the world
