Dear Colleagues:

Thanks to CUNY Libraries, you continue to have full complimentary access to NYTimes.com and NYTimes mobile apps, as well as their international editions. Please visit nytimes.com/passes to activate your own free Pass. CUNY's subscription entitles all people with a cuny.edu email domain to acquire a subscription to the digital NYTimes so you must register using your City Tech email.

Get Started: Go to nytimes.com/passes.

1. Click on "Create Account" to create a NYTimes.com account using your City Tech email address.
2. Enter your City Tech email address and create a password.
3. Check off that you are a faculty/staff.
4. You will receive an email at your City Tech address to confirm your email.
5. Now your account is active.

Returning Users

After you have followed the steps for first-time users and activated an Academic Pass provided by your school, it should allow you full access for 52 weeks (364 days) with no further action on your part. Once the 52 weeks is up, you will have to reconfirm your email address at nytimes.com/passes.

If for any reason while on NYTimes.com you are served the message that you are reaching the limit of free articles on the site, do the following: Make sure you are logged in to NYTimes.com with your school email address. Go to nytimes.com/passes. Your pass should again be active.

Smartphone Apps

Your Academic Pass includes access to The New York Times via the NYTimes smartphone apps. To download your smartphone app, visit: nytimes.com/mobile. Once you have registered and selected your Academic Pass, you can then access nytimes.com from anywhere at any time during the life of that pass from most web capable devices.

Please contact me if you have any concerns or questions.

Thanks,
