LAW 1101/Intro to Paralegal Studies/Coughlin/F19
FYLC with ENG 1101 (Prof. Hall): Fight for Your Rights!

FYLC Collaborative Assignment: Issue-spotting with Amy Tan!
Gen Ed Student Learning Outcome (SLO): Skills → derive meaning from experience.
Due on Openlab Tuesday, Sept. 3, 2019 before class

Legal issues are everywhere! Even in literature. For Prof. Hall's English class, you read Amy Tan's essay "Mother Tongue." As you did for Prof. Hall, write another "lowkey" response to that essay that identifies a legal issue, or question, raised in the essay, like the ones we identified in class (which you may use). Post your response on our course OpenLab site according to the instructions below. For "category," choose "Amy Tan response." Each student must identify a different legal issue. Read all the posts before yours, then write about something else. Better yet, post yours early! Your response should identify (perhaps quote) the part(s) of the essay where the issue you chose arises. Your response should also identify questions or considerations that relate to the issue, and/or other thoughts, comments, or questions you have about the issue you identified.

This response must be posted on OpenLab before class starts on Tuesday, September 3. It will be graded according to the same criteria as your response for Prof. Hall's class: concrete, significant detail; thoughtfulness; proofreading and organization; and submitting on time. If you have a problem posting your response on OpenLab, and you tried to resolve it on your own, you may email your response to me together with an explanation of the problem and the steps you took to resolve it. I will consider whether to accept the response and for what amount of credit.

How to POST! on our course OpenLab site ☺

1. At the top of the screen, find the circle with the "plus sign" (+) inside, and hover your cursor over it.

2. Choose "Post."

3. On the "Add New Post" screen, where it says "Enter title here," type the title of your post, then type the post in the big white space beneath it.

4. PROOFREAD your post!!

5. On the right side of the screen, under "Categories," choose the appropriate category for your post (Legal News Summaries, etc.).

6. To include a link, click the icon at the top of the post that looks like a paper-clip ("Insert/edit link").

7. To include a photo, document or other attachment, click "Add Media" above your post. Choose "Insert from URL" or "Upload Files" and follow the instructions.

8. PROOFREAD your post again!!

9. Click "Publish" (blue button) on the top right of your screen.

10. To return to the Course Site and see your post, click "View post" (next to "Post updated.") at the top left corner, under "Edit Post." OR at the top of the screen, in the middle, hover over the name of the course and click "Visit Site."
