

This one just says that regardless of what it is, stand up for your beliefs. This was when Kaepernick was standing up for the injustices that were happening regularly for people of color but not just them everybody, with the police brutality.(came across while doing assignment 10)

This one a complete 180 from the last ad, this one is gucci ad targeting women trying to get them to buy their new purse.(came across this while scrolling through instagram)

This one targeted towards smokers who want to quit and help them at their own pace(came across this ad on instagram as well)
