A Rise in Anti-Asian Attacks

A torrent of hate and violence against people of Asian descent around the United States began last spring, in the early days of the coronavirus pandemic.

Spit On, Yelled At, Attacked: Chinese-Americans Fear for Their Safety

As bigots blame them for the coronavirus and President Trump labels it the "Chinese virus," many Chinese-Americans say they are terrified of what could come next.

Swelling Anti-Asian Violence: Who Is Being Attacked Where

Over the last year, in an unrelenting series of episodes with clear racial animus, people of Asian descent have been pushed, beaten, kicked, spit on and called slurs. Homes and businesses have been vandalized. The violence has known no boundaries, spanning generations, income brackets and regions.

Background: Community leaders say the bigotry was fueled by President Donald J. Trump, who frequently used racist language like “Chinese virus” to refer to the coronavirus.

Everyone is struggling with current pandemic, whether it be financially, socially and/or mentally. There is no need nor is justified to blame Asians for the spread of Coronavirus.

This rise of crimes and violence towards Asians is very serious and must end! I am proud to live in a time where people are very vocal and continue to fight for change. We must continue to support those who are wrongfully targeted and are in need for support.
