

Criteria for Evaluation

- As a group, come up with 3 criteria for evaluating the information you find on the internet
- Choose the 3 most important criteria that you use when determining whether internet information is credible
- Write the 3 criteria on a sheet of paper or in typewith.me

For Wednesday, November 9

Discussion: Evaluation of sources in any format:
how to evaluate; evaluation game

Reading: UC Berkeley, Cornell

Assignment: Write one research journal blog post

Research paper outline due by 10 a.m. Friday, 11/11/11 as email attachment to me at

aleonard@citytech.cuny.edu

.doc, .docx, .rtf formats please!

Blog Homework: Research Journal Post

- You've now written your research proposal and annotated bibliography – the next major step will be to write the first draft of your research paper.
- What strategies will you use when writing your first draft?
- What's worked well for you when you've written other research papers?
- Do you feel uncertain or have any questions about writing the research paper?

Today!

At 11:30 in the Atrium Amphitheatre

Dr. Khalil Gibran Muhammad, director of the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture will speak on “Historical Literacy in the 21st Century: Arturo Alfonso Schomburg’s Legacy – Then and Now”