

Where have we been?

- We started off by talking about the landscape of information:
 - who produces it
 - how it is published
- Then we moved into issues like access, copyright and fair use, and intellectual property & plagiarism
- Then we discussed how information is organized, and where and how to search for it
- Finally, we covered using information:
 - critical evaluation
 - citation and documentation

Questions to consider

- Has the way that you think about information changed over the course of this semester?
- Has the way that you use information changed over the course of this semester?
- How?
- What do you see as the future of information?
- What challenges will this future bring?
- What opportunities?
- Are you ready?

NEXT CLASS: Monday December 5

- Review guidelines for the online documentation project & tell me what your group plans to do
- Establish your project on the OpenLab
- Work on your group projects
- Class will be in our the library eclassroom: Rm A540

REMEMBER:

Group projects are due by 10 a.m. on Wednesday, December 21

Class presentations will be held on Monday,
December 19 and Wednesday, December 21