SUMMARY

SUMMARY

The Barclay Center sight to me has always been a place of commuting and hanging out with friends. Whether it be going to a show or simply just going to the mall across the street. I never looked past its beauty in any time that I go there. However being in this class has opened my eyes to look past all of that and to really dive into questioning why was the site built in the first place and who was it catered to. Does every resident in the surrounding neighborhood have a right to the site or only a select few? Studying this site thus far has really given me a sense of clarification on how change can really affect a community positively and negatively.

THEME

GENTRIFICATION

METHOD

- Data based websites where statistics and demographics can be retrieved.
- Find out about the population of the area 15-20 years ago.
- How has the price of living in that area changed over the course of the years?
- What jobs were available back then that aren't anymore?
- How do local residents feel about the undergoing change?

Places to go for research

- NYPL to look at the maps of the area
- THE INTERNET

PODCAST TALKING POINTS

- Compare & Contrast about the change in the site from a particular time point.
- Discuss the pros & cons of the change that gentrification has caused.
- Talk about about how the past and current communities view the change
- Open Discussion: Where we talk about our opinion on everything and how has that opinion changed or stayed the same based off of our research.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

- Maps from the libraries.
- Newspaper Articles.
- Websites.
- Books.
