

The current events news article that me and Mimu found is titled “council considers big changes in how New York Approves Landmarks” in the article they talk about changing the Landmark law which once saved Grand Central Terminal and many other infrastructures. The council believes that a new Landmark law is overdue and that they're loopholes in the old Landmark law. One of the changes that they believe in is not only being able to choose a place because of its architecture structure and merit but also culture landmarks.

The historical article that me and Mimu found is an article dated back to June 28 1906 which depicts the murder trial of Thaw, the person who killed Stanford white, they interviewed a policeman that was there during his murder, his Trial question and answers were printed in the Brooklyn newspapers for everyone to see. Ms Thaw was also questioned, however she refused to give important information, instead she chose to be a “wife” and refused to answer the questions she was asked at the trial. Also described at the trial was how Standford White was murdered

(June 28, 1906) .Thaw Unmoved By Murder Story. Retrieved from <http://bklyn.newspapers.com/>

image/53793156/?terms=standford%2Bwhite%2Band%2Bmurdered

Matt A.V Chaban (June 2, 2016). Council Considers Big Changes in How New York Approves

Landmarks. Retrieved from http://www.nytimes.com/2016/06/03/nyregion/measure-to-

streamline-new-yorks-landmarks-law-nears-council-vote.html?_r=1