Walking into the library, the feeling is grand. The arches and the mosaic floors and beige theme. The scene almost feels like you are in Rome. The details to the crown modeling and sculpture. The stairs to walk up and view is breathtaking. The amount of steps it takes to view the next section of the library is worth it.

The chandelier and the ceilings of the library is fascinating. This long hallway over by the section. The walls is simple because the ceilings is so remarkable that it would over power the beautiful in this section.

This was my favorite section in the library. This amazing scenery was astonishing. The craftsman's shift and attention to detail of creating this ceiling and the painting. Every detail was well thought of and planned according to the historic time.
