

INTRO TO LIT II: DRAMA

SummerSession 1L, 2017

June 1 through July 5

Prof. Annette Saddik
ENG 2002 – D960 (5W1)
MWTW 2:30 – 5:00, Room N-521
Prerequisite: ENG 1101
Pathways: Creative Expression

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course will introduce students to drama as a genre in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries to explore how social, political, and personal relationships are negotiated in these plays. We will examine how power, identity, knowledge, history, and interpretations of reality are involved in constructing these relationships onstage and in the larger societies they reflect.

This is a course in the English department that will study plays, not an acting class.
