

PNYCFW- ARTICLES FOR SHOW MODELS

Savannah Reynolds

Written by: Lizeth Pilamunga

Interviewed by: Lizeth Pilamunga

Savannah Reynolds, a 13-year-old from Brooklyn, New York, has recently graduated from the Barbon Modeling and Acting School. She participated in a Fashion Week Brooklyn, and her favorite thing was trying on different designs and being part of the show. She enjoys wearing trendy clothing and admires Zendaya for her diverse fashion sense.

Savannah aspires to be a professional model and started her modeling journey in February after graduating from Barbizon Modeling and Acting School. She plans to gain more modeling experience by trying out different shows and working with independent designers in fashion shows. Her interest in fashion started early, as she would often walk around the house with her mother's makeup and pose in front of the mirror.

As a supportive parent, Savannah's mother sees her passion for fashion and modeling and is willing to guide and assist her in pursuing her dreams. Savannah's determination and eagerness to learn will undoubtedly lead her to success in the fashion industry.

Savanna 's modeling career will be exciting to watch. Savanna is sure to achieve great things both in and outside of her modeling career.