Our Story

This is a combination of my heritage and my girlfriend, I believe that with my Ecuadorian background and her asain heritage will combine the elements of our culture will attract foodies from both parties and more. We love both aspects of tasting different beloved authentic meals. Ecuadorians are usually known for its fish, yucas, plantains, spicy chilis and most importantly ceviche, a lot of customers will kill themselves for traditional recipes. Hong Kong plays an important role in this fusion why? Its unique vegetables, soups, pork, and aromatic matters the most. It would be popular in today's market because we rarely see latin american and asian fusions, a new cuisine can attract new customers because it's fascinating how a chef can create something new with touches of both sides of cultures to make you think wow they really did it. Something new in the market is provided for every culture, race, class people to experience, taste and judge. While anyone is welcomed I am focusing towards people who enjoy tasting new cuisines, different palate such as middle class and millenials. The concept will be appealing because the willingness to experiment and create new dishes, presentations is what customers are looking for; technique and talent says it all. I am in love with chinese and hispanic food because it makes us who we are, we taste various different meals, vegetables, meats, soups, dessert, drinks. It's the perfect experience for tasty food and fantastic ambiance of our dining tables combination. Our decor will focus on typography, bold letters and artistic drawings, in order for it to be a fusion restaurant I'll be adding small Ecuadorian and chinese flags or famous chinese, spanish words for customers to be entertained and question what does that mean? The goal is for the fusion to reflect the vibe of the restaurant. Smart lightning will help customers to be more active, awake and eager to taste a meal that no other country will offer. Staff will go through a training manual where the owner "me" will pretend I am a guest and will question them about the menu, allergies, drinks, how its made to see if the employees are in it to learn and improve or for the money.
