Wow, Monica

Thanks for all the tips. This seemed a bit sketchy, but I had no idea of in how many ways it was. Now I know the types of things to look for.

Thanks again.

Best, Michael

hi Michael: I'd stay away from them. You do not want to publish with a sketchy, unknown publisher. They may be predatory.

Notice that they are inviting you to publish on a short timeline in addition to joining their board.

No contact info for the editor (a generic email)

Is the publisher anyone you've ever heard of or read? No, right.

The publisher is chiefly in science, biomedical. That is not necessarily an important detail but telling.

The publisher is not part of the Open Access Scholarly Publishers Association or the Directory of Open Access Journals.

The journal is not indexed in any library databases

The fees for publishing with them are high <https://medwinpublishers.com/processing-fee.php> [notice that they did not offer to reduce or waive your fees if you review for them]

thanks, Monica

Hi Monica,

Thank you for an insightful presentation today. I will check my schedule and try to attend as many of your workshops as I can.

Below is the link to Medwin Publishers. one of their journals listed is Philosophy International. The email I received from them is below. It all seems a little informal to me, but when you have a moment, let me know what you think.

<https://medwinpublishers.com/journals.php>

I don't plan on submitting an article now, but if it's legitimate, I might consider doing so later.

Thanks again.

Best, Michael
