

Miranda Hiralall

Professor Nazanin Munroe

ARTH 1204

HW#2

Figure 1:

Let's Groove -Earth, Wind and Fire

In Figure 1 shows this dress that have rainbow flare sleeves and a short length to the knees. It looks like it is a two piece but its made in one fit. The base color is teal and it is designed with planets, moons and suns. The design has a yellow and pink color. I chose "Let's Groove" by Earth, Wind and Fire because I can see someone who has a personality of free spirit enjoying the song. After listening to the lyrics carefully the overall message is to celebrate our love through dancing which allow me to imagine a garment that is very loosely. I think this dress fits perfectly with this song mainly because of the sleeves. I can see someone using a lot of hand movements in their dancing to the song. I can actually see Miley Cyrus in this outfits because she has worn inspired hippie looks. I can see her wearing this to a theme party or even to coachella.

Figure 2:

Play that Funky Music -Wild Cherry

In Figure 2 it shows a purple velvet suit with a design. The song I chose that fits perfectly is called "Play that Funky Music" by Wild Cherry. One of the big reasons I chose this song to the suit is because of the color. Purple is a very bright color and unusual color on a suit so I feel like it fits perfectly with a funky look. The lyric line that stood out to me was when he said "I'm funking out in every way” and the suit described it all. A celebrity that I can see right away in this suit is Prince. Prince was known for the color purple so it would be a perfect fit. I can see him wearing this to an award event or even a date because it works with his personality.

Figure 3:
What a Wonderful World- Louis Armstrong

In Figure 3 this suit has a cream color with a gold design all over it. I decided to pair this suit up with this song called “What a Wonderful World” by Louis Armstrong. This song is very calm and even though this suit is very unusual I think it fits perfectly not only with the song but with the singer too. Listening and looking at the music video I can tell Louis Armstrong can wear this suit and change the visual of it. He looks sophisticated but filled with personality so it is a perfect match. Overall the song is describing the meaning of good things we see everyday and this suit just sums it up. In the song when it mention “I see trees of green, red roses too. I see them bloom for me and you.” on the suit the design express it all.

Bibliography

"Explore Hippie Fashion." Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. Accessed June 17, 2019.
<https://www.mfa.org/media/slideshow/9025>.

Figure 1: Barry and Yosha Finch for The Chariot, Woman's jacket, about 1970. Cotton velvet; nylon, polyester; plastic. Museum purchase with funds donated by the Fashion Council, Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.

Figure 2: Trip, Man's suit in three parts (jacket, waistcoat and trousers), about 1970. Rayon velvet, satin weave; plastic. Museum purchase with funds donated by Doris May.

Figure 3: John Pearse for Granny Takes a Trip, Man's jacket, about 1967. Printed cotton plain weave. William Frances Warden Fund