

Ixchel Gomez

Professor Barbara Smith Mishara

Professional Practice / ARCH4861

NYC College of Technology

Fall 2019

09/09/2019

MY DREAM JOB

Interior design

Interior Design is a project discipline that involves the process of improving the function and quality of interior space, with the manipulation of spatial volume as well as surface treatment (materials and objects). Its scope is superior to decoration, as it investigates broader aspects: environmental psychology, architecture and product design.

I chose this field because I have always liked art in general from an early age, I like to compose, organize and obtain solutions in the most creative way possible, I love to connect with a space, I always say that each space has its own special moments, I like to keep it and at the end not only this particular space shine by itself but also connect with the new ideas, needs and objects that will be implemented in the project.

I am currently studying architecture and I intend to finish my bachelor's degree in this field. On the other hand, I am not looking for any specific job or much less trying to start with my own company at first.

My plan goes to the most basic, I like to live each stage as if it were the only and the most special, I want to start from the bottom in offices, constructions etc. To nourish myself with all the possible knowledge and also learn from other professionals.

However, the work of my dreams is based on where I can connect with the public, with the client. I want to work in a space where I can closely follow the architecture, and there are not so many limitations of the classic designs when creating a project.

I admire the professionals capable of making integral design, without having parameters or limits of what is realizable and not. There is not one that I admire in particular, but on the list would be Zaha Hadid, Frank Gehry, Rafael Vignoly, among others, that would be something that I would like to be characterized in my dream job.

In this dream job, the most important thing for me is to transmit harmony, well-being, comfort to others. Something that has accompanied me during the moment in which I felt attracted to the interior design, during my years of college and my small roles of experiences in some works has been that my main concern is to make each client feel like they were the only one .