I'm writing in response to the graphic design intern position, that is exclusively advertised on AIGA. I am a highly motivated and well organized graphic designer with plenty of technical skills and with the ability to meet deadlines and create sensible designs. I would like to bring my design skills and strong knowledge of typography to work for your company.

I currently am in my last year in undergraduate school pursuing a degree in design. I am skilled in creating well designed drafts quickly and being presentable for meeting and clients.

Though I haven't finished undergraduate school I have worked in plenty of different medias. I've worked with web design, web development, article design, and extensive knowledge in the creative suite. I can communicate my designs well and is an important skill I've learned.

Attached will be a resume that should provide you insight on what I have to offer in greater detail. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely

Mark Luczak
