I chose the first photo of the female model. I noticed the asymmetrical design, silhouette, rhythm of the color contrast, smooth texture, and balance between both colors and cuts. This inspired me to sketch 5 of my own designs based on these six details. I created different variations of these details, therefore mixing the inspiration photo with my own style. I am Dominican and these types of garments are very popular in my culture and therefore further inspired my design process. Both print and silhouette were my focus groups for this assignment. For the first design,

I would use 60% Cotton 35% Rayon 5% Spandex as it would provide a nice stretch and good coverage. For my second design, I would use 96% Polyester 4% Spandex as it would make the garment soft, comfortable, and stretchy. For my third design, I would use 60% Cotton 35%

Rayon 5% Spandex as well because it will have good coverage and durability. For my fourth design, I would use 60% Cotton 35% Rayon 5% Spandex to be both comfortable and stretchy.

Finally, for my last and fifth designs, I would use 95% Polyester 5% Spandex as these materials do well with prints and stretch. The materials I would use are also on the cheaper side, therefore, making them accessible garments.
