

Obvious 70/30

Object 1

How did this object come to be? What's its story of behind it?
Here's what I think happened

One this college student stayed up late doing homework and slept late. The next morning the student woke up incredibly tired and a tad bit late to the students surprise there was only 30 minutes to get to school. On the way to school the student had a bit of time to get coffee. Surprise again the college student wasted time and only had two minutes to get to class unfortunately this student dropt the coffee at hand due to the rush forced to bare class without any support.

Object 2

Intentional or unintentional?
Here is what I think

For object two the story is quite simple this person had a simple idea add something random that can be interpreted as an abstract yet interesting mark. I found this interesting because the darkness from this object fades out looks kind of like an asteroid flying through space.

Object 3

An average day to the city

This object aka old piece of gum looks like it has its history truly. I believe the story behind this gum is unique because its be step on by many people but the question is how did it get there? Well this what I think happened this person probably middle aged was on their way to work an probably forgotten to brush their teeth and bought a pack of gum on the way to the location the person saw that gum chewing was not allowed so they had to spit it out. From there on the gum became a part of the sidewalk becoming a unique part of everyone's commute.

Ambiguous 50/50

Object 1

Object 1 ware & tear

What's the story behind this object? My thoughts age here's why this floor looks like it has been through a history of struggle and triumphs which over time leads to discoloration and damage it has seen its day. Behind the discoloration and the scrapes came a unique abstract outlook.

Object 2

Keeping it intact

This back and forth of intertwine string makes somewhat of an intertwine pattern that's kind of abstract. Probably the person constructing intended for this unique unity that shapes this multiclass intact structure.

Object 3

Abstract but vibrant

a The story behind this is unique because it was made for the viewer to capture what they see first. Here you can see plant like figures in light and dark shades making it difficult to see which is in the front or back. My Thoughts are story with in a story.
