

Have two sides to our selves

Don't we all

The meaning for this design is that we all have two sides of each other. Meaning that we act differently to every kind of situation. Or even to a new person that we meet, we show what we want to show them. But those who we know we show another side.