Momo's Mediterranean Grill is a local restaurant that's near where I live, located in 25 101st Ave, Brooklyn, NY 11208. It has been around for 3 years. They serve traditional food for all communities with their unique, exquisite, middle-eastern cuisine. It's open 7 days a week, at 11am through 11pm.

They only serve halal food, since it located where almost everyone in Brooklyn is Muslim. There's enough space ample seating for families, and there's a private party space available right next door, and theirs catering available for private parties.

Their targeted audience is Islamic people because all of their food is halal. That authenticity comes from Chef M. Scott Karsanbas, who has at least 30 years of experience incorporates working as a chef and nourishment controller for the royal residences of the 1990 royal family within the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. Classic dishes incorporate meat and chicken kebab platters, as well as shawarma and falafel combos. All chicken, lamb, gyros, kababs, burgers, fries, hummus, etc all prepared from scratch. The tradition proceeds with Momo's Mediterranean Grill's sweets/desserts, which incorporate rice pudding and baklava.

Due to COVID-19, no one is allowed to eat inside, but they did set up tables and chairs right front of the restaurants for anyone to sit down and enjoy their food. Also, they do delivers and takeouts.

I have been there a couple of time and their food tastes amazings. The staffs are very friendly and they have great services. I would recommend you profferro to try it.
