"Most of you will be familiar with film genres such as horror, romantic comedy or thrillers"

I agree with the fact that there is the way we see genres but I hadn't know there was more to it.

"The misconception is that people feel that exact prescribed way of writing a text."

I feel the same way because genre are not always written the same ways. But in fact a lot different ways of doing it.

"So big part in developing your evaluative capability is to become more aware of genre"

I feel like this is true because you need to understand what genre is before making it into something
